EARTH HOUR 2020

Section 1: What is Earth Hour?

Earth Hour is a global movement started in Sydney, Australia in 2007 by the World Wildlife Fund (WWF). Participants across the world turn off their lights and unplug for an hour, a symbolic gesture made by millions to shed light on our impact on the environment. The ultimate purpose of this movement is to get people to think about actions that we can each take, big and small, in our everyday lives to contribute to a more environmentally sustainable way of living (and, ultimately, help protect our planet).

Earth Hour will happen at 8:30-9:30 p.m. on March 28, 2020 in your local area.

Section 2: How Can I Participate?

Commit to turning off your lights on March 28 from 8:30-9:30 p.m. Talk with your family to see if this is something you can safely commit to doing in your whole home, or even just turn off your own lights when you might normally keep them on.

Looking for something to do? Find some electricity-free activities below to get you started:

Section 3: Let's Reflect!

Even though Earth Hour only happens for one hour, YOU can continue to make a positive difference for the environment. Brainstorm ways you can help the world below and think about why it is so important to care for and protect our environment now and always— you can write on the back of this page, or on scratch paper. Share with others!
