The following material is herewith presented to the Girl Scouts of Greater Chicago and Northwest Indiana with the understanding that full title to its ownership passes to the council. Such portion as is useful for the council's collections will be added in the collection most appropriate. The council reserves the right to transfer to a more suitable depository materials not suitable for its collections and to trade, sell or destroy such materials as may, in its judgment, be of no value. In determining whether a gift item is to be added to the council's collections, the same standards are applied as are used in the selection of items for purchase. It is not possible for the council to maintain records of the disposition of gift materials it decides not to keep. The council cannot provide an estimate of the value of materials for purposes of tax deductions. It is the responsibility of the donor to appraise donations for tax purposes. It is understood that gift materials accepted for the collections will be given the same care and protection that is bestowed on purchased materials and that the council assumes no responsibility or liability of any kind for any loss or injury which may occur despite such care and protection.
